Dear Doctor,

Recall of "Cosalgesic" by Unipharm Trading Company

Further to my letter dated 19 March 2009, I write to inform you that Unipharm Trading Company has tampered with the expiry dates of two batches of "Cosalgesic" tablets, a pain killer.

The expiry dates of the two batches of Cosalgesic tablets concerned should be May 2009 and June 2009 respectively. They were changed to June 2010 instead. As the two batches of Cosalgesic tablets are still within their expiry dates, there is no immediate safety, efficacy and quality concern.

Investigation is on-going. Unipharm Trading Company has initiated a recall of the products. Meanwhile, we advise you to stop supplying the said products to your patients.

Unipharm Trading Co. has already set up a telephone hotline 2499 1373 for enquiries.

Yours sincerely,

(Dr Monica Wong)
for Director of Health
